

Wipro and Celonis launch Connected S2P.

Wipro and Celonis have joined forces in a strategic collaboration aimed at enhancing the procurement operations of organizations. This partnership combines Celonis' sophisticated process intelligence with Wipro's in-depth Source-to-Pay (S2P) expertise, aiming to deliver improved business outcomes and employee experiences. Through a consulting-led approach, Wipro plans to apply its broad industry and domain knowledge to provide a tailored Connected S2P solution, developed on the Celonis platform, for its customers. This effort represents a significant step forward in refining procurement processes, with the goal of offering customers a more streamlined, effective, and well-integrated S2P experience.

Today's challenge

Procurement operations today face a myriad of challenges that stifle their efficiency and effectiveness. Manual tasks, complex and customized ERPs, and disparate systems contribute to a lack of end-to-end visibility, while a less-than-optimal user experience leads to unnecessary spending and operational delays. These issues underscore the urgent need for procurement transformation, aiming to enhance the strategic capabilities of organizations.

However, a major obstacle to procurement transformation is the lack of visibility into process intricacies, hindering the identification and resolution of inefficiencies. Traditional solutions often fall short in fully integrating the procurement ecosystem, leaving numerous inefficiencies unaddressed. Addressing the urgent demand for speed, agility, and insights in procurement, the Connected S2P solution offers a leap forward by overcoming traditional limitations. It enables seamless data integration for real-time insights and improvements, fostering strategic decision-making and agility, and heralding a new era of procurement excellence.

Connected S2P Solution Highlights

Enables swift identification and correction of inefficiencies through integrated data analysis across systems, enhancing operational efficiency.

Supports adherence to best practices with data-driven documentation, regular conformance checks, and ongoing monitoring, ensuring process transparency and compliance.

Leverages transactional data and cross-system workflows for proactive inefficiency management, streamlining procurement operations.

Ambitions Realized.
